Myth: MAT is just trading one addiction for another.

FACT: MAT medications do not get a person high. Instead, MAT medications work to:

- Block the euphoric effects of opioids
- Relieve cravings
- Normalize brain chemistry
- Normalize physical functions without withdrawal effects

MEDICATION ASSISTED TREATMENT

What is MAT?

MAT is a comprehensive program individually tailored to the needs of patients, utilizing medication in conjunction with therapy to treat addiction and substance use disorders.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Alcohol and opioid addiction changes how the brain works.
- MAT medications relieve the withdrawal symptoms while counseling promotes positive behavior and lifestyle change.
- With cravings and withdrawal symptoms managed, individuals can focus on long term remission and recovery.

ROLE OF COUNSELING

We believe addiction is a behavioral and medical disease. While MAT can assist with the medical aspect of addiction, counseling services are geared toward addressing the lifestyle components. Counseling helps teach coping skills and how to prevent relapse.
